DECLARATION OF BARRY KUANG PAI-CHUN IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

I, BARRY KUANG PAI-CHUN, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct:

1. I am a Digital Forensics Examiner with Intelysis Corporation ("Intelysis"). Intelysis has been retained by the plaintiffs to conduct an examination of the website www.mygazines.com (the "Mygazines.com") and as such I have knowledge of the matters attested to by me in this declaration.

2. I have worked in the technology field since 2000, specializing in network security and forensic investigation. A copy of my curriculum vitae is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

The Infringing Website

3. I have conducted an analysis of the hosting architecture of Mygazines.com by reviewing all domain names and IP addresses referenced in the source code of the website. One can view the source of webpages by selecting View/Page Source in the file menu of Internet web browsers such as Internet Explorer.

4. The hosting structure of Mygazines.com is such that when a user types www.mygazines.com into their web browser, the page that is displayed appears to be coming from a host in a foreign jurisdiction. To date these foreign hosts have been located in Hong Kong, Russia, Sweden and the Bahamas. However, upon a deeper analysis of the structure, it was discovered that only a small portion of the website is stored on these foreign “front-end” servers. The main content of the website, including the JavaScript files and all of the image files containing the magazines, are stored on “data” servers in Ontario.

5. As of August 15, 2008, Mygazines.com had five “front-end” servers and were rotating between the servers to hide the IP address of the website from outside users.

6. The “front-end” server only stores the website’s PHP, JavaScript and Flash files. The Flash and JavaScript files allow the user to “flip” between pages inside a magazine on the website. The “front-end” servers do not store the magazines themselves.

7. The PHP code on the “front-end” server generates the webpage that is viewed when Mygazines.com is accessed. This code generates the webpages by accessing a collection of data files stored on a separate “data” server. This “data” server contains the actual images of the magazines as well as copies of the JavaScript files that also reside on the “front-end” servers.

8. We have discovered three “data” servers, and, like the “front-end” servers, the “data” servers are rotated on a nearly daily basis to avoid detection. The “data” servers are all hosted in Ontario by companies owned by Rick Ross. Img1 and Img2 are hosted by Cybernet Communications Inc. in Markham, Ontario and Img3 is hosted by Switchworks Technologies Inc. in Toronto, Ontario.

9. Mygazines.com's hosting structure allows for the site creators to hide the location of the infringing content from the public by rotating the IP addresses of the "data" servers. The setup also allows the site creators to respond quickly if the "front-end" server is removed by web hosts in that the website can be relocated through a small modification of the domain name configuration, while the majority of the website can remain on the "data" servers. Further, should the host of any one of Img1, Img2 or Img3 be forced to remove the infringing content, the creators can quickly change the PHP code to point to another of the "data" servers to permit the site to stay active. Indeed, the website seems to be rotating between Img1, Img2 and Img3 on an almost daily basis, so as to cause confusion in those trying to detect where the magazines are stored.

10. In my opinion, the manner in which Mygazines.com is hosted appears to have been designed to obscure or hide the location of the actual servers which contain most of the code as well as the image files containing the magazines themselves.

11. Further, this hosting structure is very complex, and hence more expensive, than the normal structure employed by websites.

User Profiles

12. When visiting Mygazines.com, users are encouraged to register for the website by creating a username and password (as well as providing other information such as location). Even without registering for the website, the public can readily access the registered users through the "Friends" tab on the top navigation on the webpage. The public can then search for and view registered users' individual profile pages, which show the date the user signed up and the users' most recently viewed, uploaded and created magazines, along with other information.

13. The URL for each registered user's webpage is <http://www.mygazines.com/users/view/X>, where X is the user number of the registered user. The user numbers are consecutive, such that the first user has the user page <http://www.mygazines.com/users/view/1>, the second user's page is <http://www.mygazines.com/users/view/2> and so on.

14. I reviewed the first user's web page – <http://www.mygazines.com/users/view/1>, which returned an error. In my experience, as the user numbers are consecutive, the first user could have been removed by the operator of the website subsequent to it being registered.

15. The second user's web page – <http://www.mygazines.com/users/view/2> – is that of the user “yms”, which, as is explained more fully below, is an alias of the defendant Yoav Schwartz. The third user's web page – <http://www.mygazines.com/users/view/3> – is that of the user “hamidskey”, which, as is explained more fully below, is an alias of the defendant Hamid Abbas. Their respective user pages show both yms and hamidskey registered for Mygazines.com on June 24, 2008, the first day any individual registered for the website.

Hamid Abbas

16. I conducted a search on Mygazines.com for registered users named “hamidskey”. The search returned eleven users with a username containing “hamidskey”. These usernames are: hamidskey, hamidskey_test, hamidskey_test2, hamidskey_test200, hamidskey_test201, hamidskey_test3, hamidskey_test300, hamidskey_test4, hamidskey_test5, hamidskey_test6 and hamidskey_test_signup. The use of multiple test accounts is, in my experience, often required for website programmers to test the functionality of the website.

17. I conducted a Google search on the term “hamidskey”, which returned 30 non-duplicative results. In the 30 results there were three different kinds of links: web development links, Mygazines.com links and political commentary links. The limited number of links and the interrelated nature of the results indicate that only one user uses the alias hamidskey.

18. Hamidskey has posted in various PHP forums, dedicated to the programming code in which Mygazines.com is written. Hamidskey also posted on a website searching for PHP freelance workers to help program websites. For example, on getafreelancer.com, hamidskey posted looking for a PHP programmer to make “a complete clone (in terms of functionality) of the following dating site: www.plentyoffish.com”.

19. A review of hamidskey’s profile on getafreelancer.com shows that he owns Power Computer Solutions, a Toronto company with an expertise in JavaScript, logo design, PHP and website design.

20. Power Computer Solutions’ homepage can be found at www.powercomputer.ca. A review of the portfolio of the websites created by Power Computer shows that the dating site – fddating.ca – was in fact created. Power Computer also built the website wantena.com. Wantena.com is a link-based website that conglomerates many different television channels’ Internet streams into one webpage, and links directly to the web stream, permitting the user to avoid visiting the originating website to view a broadcast.

21. A Google search for “Hamid Abbas” and “powercomputer” returns one result, Hamid Abbas’ profile on linkedin.com, an information exchange website for professionals. Hamid Abbas’ linkedin.com page contains a detailed resume for Abbas, likely posted by Abbas, showing that he attended Seneca College, graduating with an Advanced Diploma with a Specialization in Software, Web and Database Development. The resume also identifies Abbas as a “dynamic professional with background in PHP, Java, .Net and SQL” who “helps corporations build Enterprise Web Applications”. Abbas is listed as the owner of Power Computer, from 2004 to the present. A copy of Hamid Abbas' linkedin.com page is attached hereto at Exhibit B.

22. On Facebook, Hamid Abbas is listed as one of the eleven "Fans" of the "Mygazines Gift" application posted by John Smith. Hamid Abbas' location is listed as Toronto, Ontario. Further, I am informed by counsel to the plaintiffs, and do believe, that until approximately July 31, 2008 Hamid Abbas was listed as John Smith's only friend on Facebook. A list of the fans of Mygazines Gift is attached hereto at Exhibit C.

23. Other fans of the Mygazines Gift application are also related to Abbas. For example, Sakinah Nouraei has designed graphics for Abbas' websites, such as wantena.com and fdating.ca, and Ali M.H. lists Abbas as one of his eight friends on Facebook.

Yoav Schwartz

24. From a review of various websites it appears that "yms" refers to Yoav Schwartz, a Toronto resident, and owner of the web design company YMS Dynamics.

25. Schwartz is a friend of Darren Budd's, listed amongst 22 of Budd's friends on the website gigpark.com. Schwartz also lists Budd amongst his six friends on his profile page. Copies of Schwartz and Budd's profile pages on gigpark.com are attached hereto at Exhibit D.

26. A simple Google search for "yms" returns as the second result www.ymsdynamics.com. YMS Dynamics is a web design and marketing company based in Toronto. The domain name registration for www.ymsdynamics.com shows that the webpage is registered to Yoav Schwartz, a resident of Toronto, Ontario. A copy of the front page of the YMS Dynamics website is attached as Exhibit E. A copy of the WHOIS result for the website is attached at Exhibit F.

27. A review of YMS Dynamic's portfolio, listed on their website, shows that a significant number of the websites designed by the company use Flash and PHP coding, major features of Mygazines.com.

28. It also appears that Schwartz uses the alias 'yostar' on the Internet. For example, "yostar" posted to a web developer forum looking for a PHP developer. In the post "yostar" is identified as Yoav Schwartz of YMS Dynamics. Further, the domain name registration for www.ymsdynamics.com lists Schwartz' e-mail as yostar@gmail.com. A copy of the forum post is attached hereto at Exhibit G.

29. On the social bookmarking website www.digg.com, yostar, or Schwartz, has been actively linking to websites that reference Mygazines.com and to Mygazines.com itself. Digg is a website that permits users to share content from around the Internet by publicly bookmarking links. The links are then voted on and commented upon by users. A highly rated 'digg' can drive users to the website 'dugg' by the user.

30. Yostar's profile page shows that Schwartz has 'dugg' seven web pages since September 21, 2007. Four of those seven are links to Mygazines.com itself. Yostar has six "favourites" all of which are links to within Mygazines.com.

31. Yostar has also submitted ten websites to the News section of digg.com. Submissions are links to a website to which the user adds a comment. All ten of yostar's submissions are directly related to magazines within Mygazines.com or articles discussing Mygazines.com. The links to articles within Mygazines.com seem to be to "hot" articles, such as direct links to the pictures of Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie's twins in People Magazine, or the recent controversial New Yorker magazine cover depicting Barack Obama. Schwartz has also left comments attached to the links praising Mygazines.com. A copy of yostar's comments is attached hereto as Exhibit H.

32. Schwartz also commented on an article headlined "Metallica Now Embraces File-Sharing”. The article discusses the rock band Metallica, which sued music file sharing sites, and now plans to sell its latest album online. In response to the article, Schwartz wrote:

i hope in their shameless admittance to misjudging the commercial power of the internet, they throw some money back to the original Mr. Napster – who should be a lot richer than he is thanks to these clowns....

Darren Budd

33. I have reviewed a domain name search for the registrant Budd as well as websites currently registered to Salveo Limited (“Salveo”). Salveo Limited is the current registrant of Mygazines.com, the registration having been transferred from its original registrant, Budd.

34. As of August 15, 2008, Salveo Limited is the named registrant for many websites with the same or similar domain name as www.mygazines.com. Almost all of these websites, with the exception of two purchased after June, 2008, were originally registered to Budd before being transferred to Salveo.

35. Below is a table showing the websites currently owned by Salveo, the original registrant of the domain name prior to its transfer to Salveo, and the date purchased and transferred:

TABLE 1 – WEBSITES REGISTERED BY DARREN BUDD AND SALVEO LIMITED

Domain Name	Original Registrant	Purchased	Current Registrant	Transferred
Mygazines.us	Darren Budd	September 30, 2007	Salveo Limited	April 16, 2008
Mygazines.info	Darren Budd	October 15, 2007	Salveo Limited	April 18, 2008
Mygazines.biz	Darren Budd	October 22, 2007	Salveo Limited	April 19, 2008
Porngazines.com	Darren Budd	November 2, 2007	NIW International Ltd. (Juan Cortez)	June 17, 2008
Yourgazines.org	Darren Budd	November 10, 2007	Salveo Limited	May 6, 2008
Urgazines.org	Darren Budd	November 16, 2007	Salveo Limited	April 30, 2008

Domain Name	Original Registrant	Purchased	Current Registrant	Transferred
Mygazines.com	Darren Budd	November 25, 2007	Salveo Limited	June 21, 2008
Mygazinesonline.com	Darren Budd	January 7, 2008	Salveo Limited	August 2, 2008
Mygazineslive.com	Darren Budd	January 8, 2008	Salveo Limited	June 17, 2008
Urgazines.com	Darren Budd	January 10, 2008	Salveo Limited	May 19, 2008
Yourgazines.com	Darren Budd	January 11, 2008	Salveo Limited	June 20, 2008
Kidgazines.com	Salveo Limited	July 22, 2008
Magshare.com	Salveo Limited	August 9, 2008

36. As can be seen from Table 1, all of the websites except porngazines.com are currently registered to Salveo Limited. Porngazines.com is registered to “Juan Cortez” at “NIW International Ltd.”. NIW International Ltd.’s address on the domain name registration is the same address as used by Salveo Limited – Mitchell House in Anguilla. The phone number is different, however, with an Australian (Brisbane) phone number listed, rather than a phone number from Romania. I confirmed the phone number by conducting a reverse phone lookup at www.fonefinder.net, which shows the city and country of any phone number based on the phone exchange numbers.

37. I also conducted a Google search for the company “NIW International Ltd.”, and no results were found.

38. Budd was careful not to use his home address to register any of the above websites, but seems to have mistakenly registered mygazines.us with his home address. The address listed on the registration is 21 Mayfair Ave., Unit 709, Toronto, Ontario. I understand from the plaintiffs’ counsel that this is the same address used by Budd on his application to register the MYGAZINES mark in Canada.

39. I also reviewed the results of searches done on Facebook for references to Mygazines.com. On Facebook, Budd has been posting advertisements for Mygazines.com in numerous user groups. Budd has posted the following advertisement for Mygazines.com:

Mygazines.com – upload, share, archive: Mygazines is your free place to browse, organize, customize and archive unlimited magazine articles uploaded by you, the Mygazines community.

This ad was posted in the following Facebook groups: Future Investment Bankers, Close the Gap – Indigenous Health equality in 25 years, Facebook for Business, Green Architecture: How It Should Be, You know you're an architecture student when..., The Business Network, Canadian Weddings and Hype1. Hype1 also contains an advertisement for Pornmagazines.com, also posted by Budd. Copies of these advertisements are attached at Exhibit I.

40. The advertisements also contain pictures of magazines targeted at the group in which the posting was placed. For example, on the Future Investment Bankers group the advertisement reproduces an issue of Forbes magazine, and in the architecture groups an image of Architectural Digest is reproduced.

Site Code

41. An analysis of the JavaScript and Flash code on Mygazines.com shows references to the defendants Abbas, Schwartz and Budd being involved in the creation and development of the website.

(a) JavaScript Files

42. I conducted an analysis of the JavaScript code on Mygazines.com. The analysis identified five points in the code where notes identified the website's programmers by name. In my experience, programmers often leave comments or notes in the code itself to indicate to other programmers who coded particular sections, as well as to provide instructions to future operators of the website.

43. The notes were found in two files thickbox.js and user_views.js which form part of the code for both Mygazines.com and Pornmagazines.com (a website with the same functionality as Mygazines.com, but with adult magazines). Both thickbox.js and user_views.js are JavaScript files relating to the user interface of the websites. The servers containing the files are as follows;

- www.mygazines.com
- img1.mygazines.com
- img2.mygazines.com
- img3.mygazines.com
- www.pornmagazines.com

44. The two files are very similar on each of the three servers with one small irrelevant exception. The comments identify three individuals; “hamid”, “YMS”, and “Yoav”.

45. The comments by “YMS” and “Yoav”, a/k/a the defendant Schwartz, are as follows:

Comments by “YMS”

- page 3: //determine screen height: added by YMS 28-09-2007
- page 4: //use dimensions plugin instead (added by YMS 03-10-2007)
- page 4: //yms – attempt fix for flipbook modals in ie6 and ie7

Comment by “Yoav”

- page2 : modified by Yoav: Feb 23, 2008 – to allow for links instead of select input

46. The comments by “hamid”, a/k/a the defendant Abbas, are as follows:

Comments by “hamid”

- page 5: //this is added by hamid, the callbacks are used to easily add functions

(b) Flash Files

47. The Flash files were located and downloaded from the websites manually and analyzed using SWF decompiler software.

48. Five Flash files were found to contain references to Budd and Schwartz. More significantly, at least two of the Flash files contain several "code packages" that appear to have been created by YMS Dynamics and bear their name.

49. Inside one of the packages bearing YMS Dynamics' name we located a section of code entitled "friendsArray" which contains eight names as follows;

friendsArray = ["Aaron Gilboe", "Bill Clinton", "Camila Crancton", "Darren Budd", "Pavel Phillipenko", "Yoav Schwartz",
"Zak Schwartz", "ZZ Top"];

50. It is my belief that the names in the friendsArray represent a sample list of friends from which a user could select friends to share. It is my further belief that the list of names within the friendsArray contains the names of actual associates of the writer of the code in question as well as other well known names.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on August 20, 2008.

Senior PHP Developer

Riptown / Bodog

(Privately Held: 501-1000 employees, Entertainment industry)

June 2007 — September 2007 (4 months)

Project:

Created the coolest fantasy sport product on the internet to compete with ASPN, Yahoo, CBS Sports and other existing fantasy sports websites.

Challenge:

To create scalable, feature and information rich fantasy website before football season in the shortest time frame possible, and also integrate the website with existing Bodog products.

Solution:

Using PHP, MySQL, Smarty, jQuery (AJAX), CSS and round the clock work created the best fantasy sport website in the market which made other fantasy sports products seem less cool.

Results/Projects Benefits:

- A new and improved fantasy product in the market which took users to a whole new level of fantasy sport experience securing company position and reputation in the market, and also allowed the company to tap into new markets
- Integrated with existing infrastructure which made management of the product and users cost and time effective

Senior PHP Developer

Bedmas Inc.

(Privately Held: 1-10 employees; Insurance industry)

July 2006 — June 2007 (1 year)

Project:

Designed and coded a secure, comprehensive and modular insurance claim/loss/legal management system for AVIVA Canada Inc.

Challenge:

To combine multiple systems into one unified, secure, multi-lingual and modular system to manage all insurance needs for an international organization and implement UNIX like access and permissioning system for enhanced security.

Solution:

Using PHP, MySQL, Javascript, AJAX & CSS designed and implemented an enterprise level insurance application to be versatile enough to handle all the needs of an insurance organization.

Results/Projects Benefits:

- One single system to manage all insurance needs that once was multiple high overhead systems
- A scalable and modular system that add-ons could be added to it for enhanced functionality

- Robust UNIX like access and permissioning system to protect sensitive information in a multi user system

Senior PHP Developer

Canoe Inc.

(Media Production industry)

November 2005 — March 2006 (5 months)

Project:

Ported Autonet.ca website from Cold Fusion/SQL Server to PHP/Oracle with enhanced features and proper multilingual support

Challenge:

To create an infrastructure to incorporate all the enhancements, at the same time simplified reporting and multi language code maintenance.

Solution:

Using PHP, Oracle, Javascript, AJAX & Smarty Template created a robust multi language platform where different language templates were used to be processed by a single PHP file.

Results/Projects Benefits:

- One single PHP file to be maintained for all common templates in different languages
- More accurate site statistics on each language
- Enhanced functions and richer interfaces as a result of newer technologies such as Ajax

Hi, I own a web-dev company, and have an upcoming project to be developed in PHP, MySQL.
I'm interested in hiring a PHP developer for the entire project "quite large".
Please contact me if you're interested. I prefer that you live in the Toronto area but not necessary.
Thanks,

Cyurbia - urban planning community
Source: www.cyurbia.org

Cyurbia, established in 1994, is an urban planning social/community and portal site. Cyurbia includes a busy message board, image gallery, planning and urbanism-related blog feeds, wiki, and directory of related web sites.

Cyurbia (<http://www.cyurbia.org>), founded in 1994, is the Internet's oldest continuously operating planning-related Web site. Cyurbia has served the planning community for nearly 14 years with very little funding or financial remuneration. The Cyurbia Forums (<http://www.cyurbia.org/forums>) went online in 1996, and today remains a vibrant virtual third place for planners, students and others interested in the built environment ; 5,800 members, 400,000 posts, and still growing. Among other subject areas, the Forums also include urban design and environmental planning discussion areas.

If you're looking to complement your Internet planning-related diet of news sites and mailing list bounce and out-of-office messages, visit Cyurbia and join our growing community of friendly planners!

Cyurbia - urban planning community
Source: www.cyurbia.org

Cyurbia, established in 1994, is an urban planning social/community and portal site. Cyurbia includes a busy message board, image gallery, planning and urbanism-related blog feeds, wiki, and directory of related web sites.

Cyburbia (<http://www.cyburbia.org>), founded in 1994, is the Internet's oldest continuously operating planning-related Web site. Cyburbia has served the planning community for nearly 14 years with very little funding or financial remuneration. The Cyburbia Forums (<http://www.cyburbia.org/forums>) went online in 1996, and today remains a vibrant virtual third place for planners, students and others interested in the built environment ; 5,800 members, 400,000 posts, and still growing.

If you're looking to complement your Internet planning-related diet of news sites and mailing list bounce and out-of-office messages, visit Cyburbia and join our growing community of friendly planners ... and some architects, too!

An ultimate new zealand tour!

Want to experience the best of New Zealand with a mate from anywhere in the world? Make a music video about your New Zealand study adventure and you could win the Ultimate New Zealand Tour. www.ultimatenztour.com

Okay all you Architecture students, here is a competition where you can hone your movie making skills (but don't worry, it's very easy to enter....you don't even need to be a geek.....hahahaaaaa :) It's open to all students, so get in quick (the quicker you get in, the more chances of winning the Ipods :)

Plus you get the chance to win 80Gb Ipods and a trip for 2 to check out New Zealand.

No obligations, and doesn't cost a cent, just have a look at www.ultimatenztour.com for how to enter :)

Welcome Everybody,

I create this group for all the persons who want to promote them company. I create this group because for every companies who need to describe them activities, that is difficult to find a place to do it for free. I create it for the companies who have a website and want to put a link here. I also create it because i think B2B (business to business) must be free.

If we want to reduce the cost of our production we need to create a place like that; because the marketing is one of the biggest activities of a company and nowadays that become really expensive.

So now, we have an alternative. We can register as a member of this group and post one link on the posted items and one link with the description of your company, on the wall. In the pictures part, only the logo of your company can be accepted. If you have any remarks or questions, you can put it on the discussion board or send me an email.

Hi everybody, my name is Florian Lee Tea; I represent « EA Machinery Equipment Co., Ltd. », founded in Hong Kong in 1998. Our products can be interesting for you. We manufacture machinery for roads construction, and for this we are using European technics. We have a variety of different machines and every machine is equipped by a computer; so only one operator is able to do the job. Our production is made up of bitumen sprayers, gravel chip spreaders and emulsion plants. Our factory is located in the Economic and Technical Development Zone of Beijing, China, which leads us to reduced production cost and thus selling prices are very cheap.

We are looking for companies who want to buy or distribute our machines in different countries.
